THE AMERICAN JUNGLE

THE PROJECT

THE AMERICAN JUNGLE is the first documentary to provide an in-depth examination of the history and contributions of a broad range of North American Jungle/Drum & Bass artists and communities and the evolution of a discrete musical genre outside of the mainstream electronic music industry. The American Jungle story explores the history and unique subculture of Jungle/Drum & Bass and its worldwide fan base, known as "junglists." This story has remained underground and untold - until now.

Jungle/Drum & Bass has roots in many aspects of music, and as a cultural and musical phenomenon, holds a strong foothold in the electronic music underground of almost every major city in the world. The American Jungle focuses on the genre's growth in North America and its distinct musical development from the roots of sampling American jazz and gospel music to the "Four Elements" of American Hip-Hop: graffiti, breakdancers, MCs, and live DJ performances that require mixing techniques on turntables or CDJs. The film also examines the development of audio technology and its influence on the music production and recording industry when it was on the border of analog vs. digital.

This feature-length documentary will be of interest to a variety of viewers, including: vinyl enthusiasts, breakdancers, MCs, Reggae fans, Punk fans, Hip Hop fans, festival and party goers, graffiti artists, turntablists, and music producers. Film viewers will be immersed in the sights and sounds of the Jungle/Drum & Bass club and festival scene and educated by first-hand accounts from the people who developed the scene.
